

Other Services

I still undertake projects for clients who want a personal research service which will NOT be delegated to inexperienced assistants. This service will use the dynamic style and methods of Breakthrough Psychology to do groups, workshops, Big Talks or other consumer sessions, perhaps with staff too.

We all know what happens with many agencies. You see the principals at the first meetings, then they disappear, only to be seen again at the debrief presenting a few slides which they saw on the ride to the presentation.

I won't work on more than one project at a time, so you can be sure of my undivided focus and attention! You can be sure of being fully consulted and engaged in the development of the project, processes and interpretation too, if that is the way you like to work.
